

This idea could obviously be extended to include anything the child is interested in. It's also easy to set up inside using a desk or table lamp to create the shadows. Families may have old rolls of wallpaper which they could use the back of, or if outside, it could be chalked straight onto the ground. Or single sheets of paper joined up.

